Tomorrow's children stand in the garden
They stand at twilight, in every nation
Their eyes are on you, they're not mistaken
Tomorrow's children are not for sale.

Tomorrow's children play in the forest
Their eyes are clear, they look for kindness
Arm in arm, they need no logo
Tomorrow's children are not for sale.

Tomorrow's young dance in the doorway
Circle songs stream down the hallway
We know their cries, we know their laughter
Tomorrow's promise whispering today.

Tomorrow's children, reading Eisler
Planting seeds along the harbour
Closing ranks to save the shoreline
Tomorrow's children lead the way.

If not for wonder, if not for reverence
If not for love, why have we come here?
Tomorrow's young, now at daybreak
Learning how to heal the heartache.

Tomorrow's children, brilliant poppies
Of every hue and inspiration
Just in time for our salvation
Tomorrow's children lead the way.
